8th Annual Health Services and Outcomes Research Conference: Improving the Quality of Health Care

November 6, 2007

8:15 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Houston Medical Center Marriott, 6580 Fannin, Houston, Texas

Conference History & Purpose

In 2000, the Kelsey Research Foundation initiated a Health Services and Outcomes Research Conference in Houston, Texas to provide a forum for healthcare providers and health services researchers to review programs and policies designed to improve health status and the quality of medical care. The conference objectives are to:

- Disseminate health services research findings on the key components of quality of care.
- Foster collaborative health services research projects among research and medical care institutions in Texas.
- Demonstrate the application of health services research findings in clinical practice and community settings.

The conference is designed to connect the fields of health services research and medical practice. Presenters and attendees include health services researchers, healthcare executives, quality improvement directors, health care professionals and consumers. Past conferences have fostered collaborative partnerships and led to funded research projects to improve the quality of healthcare. The keynote speaker is:

Robert Brook, MD, ScD

Vice President, RAND and Director, RAND Health

“Building a Successful US Healthcare System: Transparency, Evidence, Patient Power and Technology”

Call For Abstracts

The Kelsey Research Foundation invites all individuals with an interest in innovative research on healthcare to submit abstracts for poster presentation. Poster presentations will focus on the six major components of quality of care:

Effectiveness, Efficiency, Equity, Patient Safety, Timeliness of Care and Patient-Centered Care

Abstract selection criteria include the research study's quality and relevance to the topic areas. Authors will be notified of the committee's decision by October 1, 2007. Presenters will be required to accompany their poster for one hour during the conference. Awards will be presented for the best posters in each of the six topic areas.
